There was an exciting scene for a mo

There was an exciting scene for a moment. Miss Hart was pretty severely bruised, but not seriously hurt. The managers, the audience, Shaffer and Miss Gordon, who was a spectator, were all much more frightened than Miss Hart herself. The latter with great pluck soon remounted her wheel and the contest by the ladies was resumed.

Several times during the evening there was some lively racing. At one time, just before the close. Miss Hart undertook a spurt and kept the lead, amid much enthusiasm amons the audience. Miss Gordon also took a hand, but from that on, Miss Harvey kept ahead of both. Miss Harvey has been handicapped from the start, first by an unsuitable wheel and then by her serious accident, in addition to which she was out of practice when she began. She has done some fine work, however, and experts last night expressed the belief that she would stand a good show of winning under different circumstances, and bets were made that she will make to-day as many miles as either of the other ladies. Miss Gordon reduced Miss Hart's lead only two laps yesterday. All three were necessarily off the track more or less. The score when the rink closed last night stood:

Miss. Laps. zed by heavy hitting on both sides, but really brilliant and the game from start to finish was as full of interest as an egg game was practically either side's, but in that inning Wheeling was fortunate in being able to bunch four hits that netted three runs and won the game. Hamilton's one run was made as follows: Harris got his base on balls; Williams hit to Kennedy, who threw to Zimmer, putting Harris out; Zimmer tried to make a double play, but threw high over Speidel's head and Williams went to second. Miles then stepped to the bat and hit out a two bagger that scored Williams. Wheeling's scores were made as fol-Miss Hart made 65 miles and 3 lap resterday, Miss Gordon 65 miles and 1 aps and Miss Harvey 59 miles and scored Williams.

Wheeling's scores were made as follows: In the first O'Rourke, first at bat, popped up a fly that Shoup muffed. Dunn followed with a home run hit away over the deep center fence and both he and O'Rourke scored. In the A Chance for Clara Hell.

The backers of Bertie Lawrence, in response to the note from Clara Bell, printed in the Intelligences, say they will back Bertie against her for a six days' race, twenty-four hours a day, square heel and toe walk, for $250 to $500 a side. If Clara means business, she can put up a forfeit of $50 with any reliable sporting editor in Pittaburgh or the sporting editor of the Intelligences and name her time and place. both he and O'Rourke scored. In the fourth Bowman, first at bet, got a hit, stole second and went to third and home on the put out of Zimmer at first on an assist of Lanser's. White tried to return the ball to Lanser in time to put Bowman out, but missed it by about three inches. Bowman was very daring in his base running. In the eighth O'Rourke led off with a hit and Dunn followed with another and stole second: and name her time and place

Green got his base on balls; O'Rourke was caught napping at third by Browner, who threw him out nicely; Speidel made a daisy hit that scored Dunn and Green; Speidel stole second and went home on a hit knocked out by Bowman, who went to second on a passed ball and was put out, after Hobrecht had flown out to Harris, by being hit on his way to third by Zimmer's batted ball.

One of the features of the game was a catch by Dunn of a line bit from Miles' bat that was about as hot as one often sees; it was in the seventh, at a critical point, when it seemed certain that Hamilton would score two or three runs. Dunn's work in general yesterday and the day before was of a very high order and a source of gradification to his many friends. He never played ball more earnestly than he is doing this season, and as captain of the team he tries to infuse the same carnestness into the other members, and with good effect. ## Good Goods

There's no work in the English language that conveys a more correct idea of our stock than the word "GOOD." Everything on our six floors is good at the price. Our Juvenile Novelties have set enlightened tastes on edge, and our driving trade is the best proof that we DO what others "claim" they do, but don't.

Put off an inspection of our immensely beautiful stock of MEN'S, BOYS' and CHILDREN'S CLOTHING until some of the choicest novelties are gone. Make your visit as early as possible, so that you may see in all its perfection the largest, most complete and most thoroughly genteel exposition of Fine Clothing ever Made in this city at surprisingly low prices.

WAIT

Until you have seen our stock before you invest a dollar in MEN'S, BOYS' or CHILD-REN'S CLOTHING.
